Delivering and Auditing Quality in Hospital Play Services

Judy Walker BH (Hons) Reg HPSET

Designed to lead and guide the management and delivery of hospital play services over the next decade and beyond, this manual describes the structures, processes and outcomes required to deliver and audit quality in paediatric and adolescent play services. There are sections covering in-patient and out patient settings along with A&E departments and work undertaken by hospital play specialists in the community and the standards of service required from a developmental perspective are also clearly described in the form of sections on services for babies, children and young people.

Play for Health is the first publication of its kind for 16 years, and will be valued by all those who design, deliver and manage hospital play services, those who provide care for paediatric patients in community settings, and those who train play specialist nursing, and childcare students as well as the students themselves.
