Another security product designed by Core Security "The I Pad Harness"
The Harness allows the end user to lock off the iPad, while still being able to fully rotate the iPad. By locking the I Pad using the Harness it allows the end user to experience what the I pad was designed for, a "fully mobile solution". This light weight yet secure mount can easily be attached to a number of locking points, so either in the office or working out on site a locking point can always be found
